Ride & Drive Successful Despite Weather Forecast

Evansdale News Despite the dreary weather forecast (and a few sprinkles early in the day) this years Memorial Ride and Drive, and the concert after, turned out to be a success.

Cloud cover and a few sprinkles early in the day may have discouraged some motorcycle riders and classic car drivers, but others were prepared to ride in whatever weather was dished out that day.

The Ride concluded at the Pepsi Pavilion on the Cattle Congress grounds instead of the Screaming Eagle as originally intended because of the weather forecast. However, as the day wore on, the sun came out, and it turned out to be a beautiful day for a rock concert.

123 motorcycles, and several dozen vehicles arrived at the first stop in Quasqueton. Several more motorcycles joined the group throughout the day. The Ride was escorted by Black Hawk County Sheriff Tom Nichols.

All proceeds from the Memorial Ride and Drive will be split between the Angel's Memorial Park at Meyer's Lake in Evansdale, and Cedar Valley Crimestoppers.

The first stop on the Ride was Wolfey's Outback in Quasqueton, Iowa. The official count of motorcycles was 123 at this stop.

The clouds began to disappear during the ride to the second stop in Hopkinton, Iowa. More bikes had joined the ride, but no official count was taken. An official tally of the Ride and concert is not yet available.

Angel's Memorial Park Getting Closer to Opening

Evansdale News If you have not been to Meyer's Lake lately, stop by sometime to check out the progress on the island!

The flower beds are beautiful, the trees are growing, and the gazebos almost ready for visitors. The park will not be open for public use until this fall or next spring, so no reservations are being taken for the shelter, but everyone is welcome to visit the park to see the progress.

Plans are being made to make the park handicap accessible by constructing a bridge over the lake. The fountains in the lake have been installed, but the park committee plans to add diffusers to the lake to help aerate the water. That will help control the algae in the lake, and help the fish population.

The flower beds will be maintained by volunteers in the community. Many of the flower beds have been spoken for, but Marble benches have been donated by some families as a memorial to their loved ones.

there are still some in need of volunteers. Many of the trees on the island have been donated and dedicated to the memory of a loved one. If you are interested in donating a tree, or becoming a volunteer, contact someone on the Angel's Park committee, or just stop out to the park; Sheriff Nichols is often in the park doing a landscaping project or weeding the gardens.
